

The problem occurs every time I log in to the mail server using my company email account. Currently, I am using my personal email account instead. This is the company's work email account that was recently created: <https://www.example.com/>

